NORWOOD and FOXBORO, MA, ISSUED JANUARY 6, 2020...Office Gallery International (www.officegallery.net), a Norwood, MA-based leading provider of office furniture and design services for the business community since 1989, recently announced that Molly Robertson of Foxboro, MA, has joined the Office Gallery team as the company's new Design Project Assistant.

In this position, Robertson will be integral in assisting with the planning, presentation, finish and furniture selection for new and existing clients as they look to Office Gallery for effective and exceptional design solutions.

Most recently, Robertson worked as a Design Associate with Boston Interiors, where she built her experience in design consultation and home furnishings selections. Before entering the design field, Robertson worked in law enforcement for several years, but shifted her career direction when she realized she was interested in pursuing a profession that would allow her to use her creative skills more frequently.

Robertson earned a certificate in residential interiors from Boston Architectural College, as well as a bachelor of science from Northeastern University, where she majored in criminal justice and minored in psychology.

She currently resides in Foxboro with her husband and son. In her free time, Robertson enjoys camping, fishing, and the outdoors.

"We are very glad to welcome Molly to our expanding design team," said Hilary Troia, president and co-owner of Office Gallery International. "Her experience in client consultation will contribute to ensuring we maintain our track record of exceeding customer expectations!"
